

Taxpayers-Workers Party Enters Political Field

Mystery of Activities of Prominent Young Democrats in Circulating Petitions for Democratic Candidates Solved by Filing of Petition of New Party.

The mystery surrounding the activities of prominent young Democrats in circulating petitions was solved Tuesday night by the filing with the board of election commissioners the petitions creating a third political party in the field this fall.

The petitions are signed by 954 residents of the city.

Candidates named are the same as those heretofore named on the regular Democratic ticket—E. Frank Flanagan, mayor; Sam N. Mann, alderman-at-large; Bernard A. Culliton, judge of the city court. No other nominations are made.

The name "Taxpayer Workers" has been selected as the name of the independent body making the nominations and an anchor has been selected as the emblem of the party. The committee named to fill vacancies is composed of Selma S. Block, 48 Spring street; John C. Hummel, 61 Brewster street; Egbert H. Schultz, 66 Hurley avenue.

The Election Commissioners met today to consider the petition, but Commissioner Harry D. Sleight stated that it was likely that final action would be deferred.

The addition of the Taxpayers Workers party to the ballot will necessitate the addition of another column to the voting machines of the city in order that voters may cast their vote for the three candidates who have been placed on the ticket. Just why only three candidates have been endorsed is not known but the Taxpayers Workers party has apparently turned down all other candidates on both the major parties' ticket. There is no endorsement of any of the rest of the county ticket.

Addition of the Taxpayers Workers party with but three names thereon will undoubtedly cause some confusion on election day. Anyone voting this partial ticket will fail to vote a complete ticket unless candidates named in another column on the machines are voted.

THREE DEAD, 12 HURT IN CALIFORNIA STRIKE AREA

San Francisco, Oct. 11 (AP).—California counted three dead and at least 12 injured today in strike-infested areas of the San Joaquin valley as authorities sought to stamp out violence.

In San Francisco, guards of the Matson Navigation Company patrolled company docks where 500 stevedores quit in protest against the discharge of four other workers.

Two Mexican pickets were killed and seven persons, one a negro, wounded when ranchers allegedly fired on a meeting of striking cotton pickers at Pixley, Tulare county, yesterday. Warrants charging murder were issued by authorities for 11 ranchers.

The other fatality was at Arvin, south of Bakersfield, where a striking cotton picker was fatally shot in a clash between strikers and non-strikers, a fight which officers broke up with tear gas bombs. Five other men were injured and six persons, one a woman, arrested.

About 10,000 cotton and lettuce workers are on strike.

GERMANY WINS VICTORY ON JEWISH QUESTION

Geneva, Oct. 11 (AP).—Germany won a victory on the Jewish question today in forcing the League of Nations assembly to reject a clause in a resolution German delegates felt was aimed directly at their government's treatment of Jews.

As adopted, the measure expressed the hope that all countries, regardless of whether they signed treaties relating to minority groups, should extend treaty benefits to their minorities.

Minorities were defined as including all racial, linguistic and religious classes without exception.

An assembly rule requiring unanimous approval for such measures gave the Germans the winning hand.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF ANAVATH ISRAEL MEETING

An informal meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Anavath Israel, corner Spring and Wurts streets, was held Tuesday evening. Plans were completed for the card party which will be held in the vestry of the synagogue, Monday evening, October 15, at 8:30. Rabbi Samuel Epstein addressed the meeting and made suggestions for a program for the coming year. Herman Rafalowsky, president of the congregation, also spoke. Among the ladies present were Mesdames Rafalowsky, Levy, Spiegel, Kramer, Spitzer, Weinberger, Lifshin and Netter.

Must Decide on Liberty Loan Refund

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP).—In the next six days, the government's fiscal experts must decide whether or not to start the treasury upon the tremendous financial operation of calling and refunding the $6,000,000,000 Fourth Liberty Loan.

While a final decision has yet to be reached, indications are that the project will not be undertaken at this time. The economic implications of such a course, officials say, might prove harmful to the Roosevelt Recovery Program.

The process of refunding a government bond issue works in this way: At a stipulated date, the issue becomes "callable". The treasury serves notice, a fixed period in advance, that beyond that date in question the bonds will not bear interest. A new issue of bonds, at a lesser rate of interest is offered in exchange. If the bond holder objects to the transfer he is paid in cash.

The Fourth Liberty Loan can be refunded on April 15, 1934, six months advance notice must be given. With October 15, falling on Sunday, the time limit for this notice would expire Monday at midnight. The $1,933,000,000 First Liberty Loan became callable last year, but no action was taken. The Second and Third and the Victory Loan bonds have already been retired.

Favorable Weather For Harvesting Crops

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP).—Weather conditions on the whole have been favorable for the harvest of crops this fall, some of them matured much earlier than usual, and there has been no serious damage from frosts, says the United States Department of Agriculture's weather bureau's weekly summary for New York state, issued today at Cornell University.

"There were some scattered, light showers during the week, and temperatures averaged close to normal," continues the report. "Rain is needed in the western half of the state, where some localities are very dry. It was a good week for securing alfalfa and beans, most of which are now under cover."

"Wheat and pastures continue to make some growth. Potato digging is now in full swing; blight has reduced the yield somewhat in some localities and there is some complaint of rotting. While the yields are not heavy, the quality of potatoes is said to be good. Apple picking is making good progress, but outside the commercial districts the crop is very light."

Scout Drive Plans Nearing Completion

Kingston division managers and captains for the impending Boy Scout campaign met last night in the Governor Clinton Hotel annex under the leadership of Community Chairman Charles W. Walton. Plans for the completion of the organization and the carrying out of the intensive part of the campaign were discussed at length.

Charles R. O'Connor, manager of division "F" reported the following captains who will be associated with him: M. V. Cahill, B. A. Culliton, Harry L. Edison, and Lester Finley. James E. Snead, manager of division "G" announced that the following would be captains of his division: George E. Lowe, N. A. Gross, Walter Tremper, and Den Silverman.

Arrangements were made to have another meeting of all captains with as many of their workers as they desire to bring on Friday evening, October 13, at 7:45, in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The Rondout Valley section of the Ulster county Scout campaign opened last night with a rally of all workers in Ellenville. Sidney D. Delaney, Ellenville, chairman, presided with practically the entire personnel of this organization present. Scout Executive William A. Wright, discussed details and plans were laid for immediate start in the drive solicitation. First report of results will be made by the Rondout Valley workers at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, October 12, at St. Mary's Hall.

7 Occupants of Giant Transport Plane Die In Crash in Indiana

Scattered Bits Were All That Remained of New York to Chicago Ship of United Air Lines—Fire of the Bodies Were Recovered Last Night.

Chesterton, Ind., Oct. 11 (AP).—The scattered bits of a giant twin-engine transport plane—one of its massive wheels hung suspended from a tree—was all that remained today of a New York to Chicago ship of the United Air Lines that carried its seven occupants to a flaming death.

Just what happened when the metal ship with a top speed of more than three miles a minute crashed to earth in flames shortly after 5 o'clock last night about five miles southeast of here, probably never will be known, but witnesses said they heard a terrific explosion.

A few minutes before while over North Liberty, Ind., company officials said it had radioed that "all was well" and that before that it had landed at Cleveland and had passed over Toledo.

Five of the bodies were recovered last night, but none was taken out alive as the heat of the flames kept farmers who flocked to the scene back. They said they saw the victims milling around on the inside of the cabin unable to save themselves. Some said they even heard their screams.

Rescuers said a further search for the two missing bodies would be made today in the hope they had been tossed clear of the wreckage and would be found nearby. Otherwise, they feared they had been cremated.

Records of the air lines showed the following were aboard:

D. M. Dwyer, a woman, Arlington, Mass.

E. Smith, Chicago.

C. F. or Fred Schoendorf, Chicago.

H. R. Tarrant, Oak Park, Ill., the pilot.

A. T. Ruby, Chicago, co-pilot.

Miss Alice Scribner, Chicago, stewardess.

Considerable confusion developed over the identification of the Dwyer woman, but a family by that name in Arlington said today that a daughter, Miss Dorothy Dwyer, had left New York for Chicago yesterday by plane.

Due to the complete break-up of the plane and the wide area over which the wreckage was strewn any attempt to discover the cause of the tragedy will be difficult. But officials of United Air Lines said they were launching an immediate and thorough investigation.

They said it was the first fatal crash to a multi-engine ship in seven years of flying over sixty million miles and that both pilots were thoroughly experienced.

The scene of the crash was a wooded patch on the farm of James Smiley in the Indiana sand dune region, within a few feet of a gravel road. The explosion brought scores of nearby residents to their doors and many of them saw the blazing plane hurtle earthward with its human cargo.

Miss Esther Stroup, a teacher living at the Smiley farm, said the blast was followed by a flash in the sky. With others she ran across fields to the side of the burning wreckage where they stood powerless to help.

Others estimated the ship was about 1,000 feet up at the time and one witness said he could hear the throbbing of the motor as it fell like a plummet, leading officials to believe that one of the motors or gasoline tanks may have exploded and that Pilot Tarrant was attempting desperately to make a landing. His body was thrown about 50 feet from the main part of the plane and his face was badly burned.

Some of the other bodies were charred to almost beyond recognition and it was almost impossible to identify them.

J. B. STETSON, JR., EXPELLED BY N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Oct. 11 (AP).—The New York Stock Exchange today expelled John B. Stetson, Jr., of Philadelphia, member of the firm of Stetson & Blackman, which was suspended last month.

The stock exchange announced that the expulsion was under sections 5 and 9, article 17 of its constitution. Section 5 deals with penalties for "misstatements to committees" and section 9 for "violation of the constitution or rules, unjust or inequitable proceedings."

The firm of Stetson and Blackman was suspended from the stock exchange on September 13.

Stetson, son of the hat manufacturer, was formerly United States minister to Poland. He purchased his stock exchange seat in October, 1930. The other member of the firm is Daniel S. Blackman.

The firm was identified with several restricted management investment trusts.

Receipts for fiscal year to date (since July 1) $812,592,688.13; expenditures, $1,051,266,326.68, including $213,981,251.07 emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures $238,613,647.55.

Congress Seeks Power To End Labor Dispute If Troubles Continue

Ultimatum Already Delivered to Calumet Working on Federal Building To Settle Differences or Take Consequences.

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP).—Power to step in and end labor disputes may be asked of congress by the administration unless organized workers settle their own internal dissensions and arbitrate before striking.

Such an ultimatum already has been delivered to two unions—carpenters and iron workers—which have halted construction work on the justice department building in the capital with an argument over which should install radiator enclosures.

"I have told labor," said Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, "that unless the unions settle that dispute between themselves, and settle it quickly, we will go to congress when it convenes in January and ask power for the government to make the decision in cases involving federal buildings."

"That, of course, would constitute a precedent for the government later in asking the power to handle all such cases, whether they involve government buildings or not, so long as it disrupts business generally."

In the local case, McGrady added, the contractor has offered to pay both carpenters and ironworkers and let one crew stand idle and watch while the other puts in the radiator enclosures.

"His object," McGrady said, "is to finish the job in contract time, yet the dispute is holding up the building and absolutely stopping payrolls amounting to thousands of dollars. Somebody should listen to reason."

A hint of administration dissatisfaction at continuing labor unrest was given to the American Federation of Labor convention last night by Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator.

Like other speakers at the convention, Johnson urged that labor present its differences with employers to the national labor board, headed by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York.

Seeks Damages for Injuries Suffered

An action to recover damages for injuries to Rose M. Raddigan, small child of Mr. and Mrs. Raddigan of the town of New Paltz, was taken up in supreme court this morning. The action is brought by the guardian of the child against George and Julia Jabritz of the same locality. Plaintiff alleges that on the evening of April 26, 1930, when the child was about a year old it suffered severe permanent injuries in a motor car accident near the Raddigan home when a Chevrolet truck driven by Mrs. Jabritz left the highway and ran down an embankment.

The child suffered a fractured skull and the complaint alleges permanent injuries.

Peter Harp of New Paltz appears for plaintiff and Judge Joseph M. Fowler, A. C. Connelly and Jansen Fowler appear for defendants.

According to plaintiff he and his wife had arranged to go to the movies at New Paltz that evening and Mrs. Raddigan's mother had agreed to take care of the child. The people all live on one of the dirt roads west of New Paltz along the main highway. Mr. Raddigan testified he and his wife were to take the child to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jabritz where Mrs. Raddigan's mother was employed but that before they were ready to start Mrs. Jabritz came to their home with Mrs. Raddigan's mother and the child was given to Mrs. Raddigan's mother and the Chevrolet started back to the Jabritz home. Later in New Paltz plaintiff heard of the accident and the child was brought to New Paltz where a doctor told them the child had a possible fracture of the skull.

Later at the Jabritz home another doctor told them that the injury did not appear serious and to bathe the injury with witch hazel. Later the child became ill and Dr. Chandler was called and the child was taken to the Kingston Hospital and an operation performed to remove a portion of the skull.

When the Chevrolet left the Raddigan home the child was on its grandmother's lap. She testified that about a quarter of a mile from the Raddigan home the Chevrolet struck a bank on the right of the road and then went over a bank on the left. The child was thrown out when the car struck a fence. She too was injured and spent several weeks in the hospital.

Dr. Coddington, one of the New Paltz physicians who treated the child, is dead and Dr. Chandler is out of the jurisdiction of the court. Mr. Harp explained also to the jury that two neighbors who were important witnesses had also died since the accident.

The mother of Mrs. Raddigan testified that when the car struck the bank on the right of the road it apparently gained speed and in her opinion the driver stepped on the gas instead of the brake. The car then went across the road and down a bank. She was thrown out after the child and was rendered unconscious. At the point she said the road was an ordinary dirt road with the usual ruts found in such pavement.

Democratic Assembly May Increase Burden For Ulster Taxpayers

Young Republicans Near Philip Elting Predict Lower Assessments or Possible Tax Free Property for New York City Reservoir—Republican Ended Graft in County, Mo. States.

The Young Republican Clubs of Ulster county held a get-together dinner at Golden Rule Inn last night with the Hon. Philip Elting as the principal speaker and guest of honor, other addresses being given by J. Edward Conway, member of assembly; Conrad J. Heideleman, alderman at large; Matthew V. Cahill, candidate for city judge; and Morris Gerber. More than 100 delegates representing all parts of the county were present together with the candidates for mayor, Harry B. Walker; coroner, Lester DuBois; county clerk, James Shimpson; and Fred Stang, who acted as chairman.

Mr. Philip Elting first briefly outlined the progress of the Republican county since 1884, at which time he became affiliated with that body. He stated that the young faces before him brought back to his memory the picturesque campaigns of another day—the campaigns of street parades and torch light processions—the campaigns of his youth. Tracing the progress of the Republican party, the Republican county leader soon reached the year 1904, at which time he was first chosen chairman of the Ulster County Central Republican committee, an honor which he holds today.

Corruption Rampant.

The year 1904 marked the turning point in the political history of Ulster county. The next four years, guided by the needs of the people, the Republican party under Mr. Elting's leadership, fought the Democratic party for the control of the board of supervisors. He said that, girded by the control of that body, he immediately set about the purification of the temple whence the Democratic money-changers had fed. The task was a difficult one for corruption was rampant. The offices of sheriff, supervisor, county clerk and surrogate were non-salaried positions, but the expense sheet was allowed. A constable working with a justice of the peace would arrest a hobo for an alleged felony. The victim would be dismissed by the justice for lack of evidence, after which the peace would file generous bills for their own expenses. Often the constable would designate in his report that he had apprehended the alleged felon at Buffalo or some equally distant point, when he had really made the arrest in his own township. The office of sheriff at that time was a difficult one for the county clerk received all fees of his office also expenses, while the expense sheet system made the office of supervisor a profitable one. Through the efforts of Mr. Elting, a Republican state legislature put all these offices on a salary basis, thus ending the costly widespread graft of the public's money.

Tracing the political history of Ulster county, the county chairman then stressed the importance of a Republican majority in both State Assembly and County Board of Supervisors. He illustrated this point by citing the property which New York city took over at the Ashokan Reservoir. Under its several owners, as farms, houses and woodlands, it had been taxed by Ulster county and contributed substantially to the revenues. Under the right of eminent domain, New York city gained title to the property and thereon constructed a reservoir together with its accessories. Mr. Elting pointed out that since it had been taxed while under individual ownership that it was no more than fair that the taxation should continue. He also said that while under construction it had a very low assessment. He stated that during that time a Democrat member of Assembly was elected from this district. For the last four years New York city by its Corporation Counsel has contested the right of Ulster county to levy taxes on this property notwithstanding the fact that it is almost wholly dependent on it for its water supply. The assessed valuation of this property as compared to the surrounding properties proves that that assessment is fair and just, he said. Mr. Elting also brought out the point that under a Democratic assessor New York city was not made to pay its just share of Ulster county taxes.

Republicans Foll Tammany.

Stressing the need of keeping the State Assembly Republican, it was shown that on divers occasions the Tammany faction of Democrats have introduced bills supported by all Democratic members of the Assembly to the effect that properties existing outside of a city but used to supply its water should be tax exempted. This would be of some small advantage to Kingston since its reservoir is located outside the city. It is to the Republican majority in the Assembly that the people of Ulster county owe their thanks for the failure of these bills. "The passage of such a bill would throw the burden of supporting New York city's properties in Ulster county upon you, the taxpayers, and would assist in the support of another Tin Box for Tammany. The taxpayers of New York city would receive little or no benefit from such a bill, while the taxpayers of Ulster county would find an uncomfortable raise in their taxes," he stated.

Defending the pay-as-you-go policy, Mr. Elting cited the case of the

Harry B. Walker Will Make Good Mayor on His Record

Popular Republican Candidate for Mayor Has Good Record as Business Man and Participant in Civic Activities—Successful Druggist, Volunteer Fireman, Fire Commissioner and Member Central Business Men's Association.

HARRY B. WALKER

Split Threatens To Unseat J.H. McCooley

New York, Oct. 11 (AP).—The wide open split in Tammany ranks resulting from Joseph V. McKee's entrance into the contest for Mayor threatened today to unseat John H. McCooley, for 22 years Brooklyn Democratic leader, and to tear his organization away from Mayor John P. O'Brien, Tammany candidate.

A dozen Brooklyn district leaders in conference with McCooley spoke out against O'Brien and told the Brooklyn chieftain they were ready to switch to McKee. Despite McCooley's insistence that his organization would hold together and support O'Brien, he nevertheless called a committee meeting for next Monday when a showdown is expected. McKee managers asserted 19 of McCooley's 24 district leaders were ready to desert.

Political observers saw the action of the district leaders as a threat to McCooley's leadership, already weakened by the defeat of his candidate for comptroller by Frank J. Prial, in the primaries.

Mayor O'Brien, at his official notification yesterday, asserted his administration had lifted the city from its financial difficulties and declared he would stand on the accomplishments of his year in office.

Continued heavy enrollment of voters marked the second day of registration week, the two-day total reaching 647,617 an increase of 75,047 over last year.

Charles H. Sabin of Guranty Trust Dead

Southampton, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP).—Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the board of directors of the Guranty Trust Company, died shortly before midnight at his home here after an illness of about a year. He was 65 years old.

For many years, Mr. Sabin's pronouncements on international affairs have been viewed with respect in financial circles.

During and after the War he was in close touch with foreign problems, activities that obtained for him decorations from European countries. The Guranty Trust Company, under his direction, has had a prominent part in some of the largest undertakings in which Wall street has been concerned.

Although his wife in 1928 was a member of the Republican National Committee, Sabin accepted the appointment of treasurer of the association against the prohibition amendment and announced his support of Governor Alfred E. Smith for president. In 1931 he assumed the chairmanship of the Democratic victory campaign.

He married Mrs. Sabin, the former Pauline Morton of Chicago, in 1916. There is a son, Charles H. Sabin, Jr., born to the first Mrs. Sabin, the former Mabel Whitney of Albany, whom he married in 1897.

ACTOS DAMAGED IN CRASH ON THE FLATBUSH ROAD

A Chevrolet coach driven by Robert H. Long of Hillcrest avenue and a Ford coupe driven by Victor Taylor of 405 Albany avenue, came together on the Flatbush road, both cars being pretty well barged up. Long was driving out of a lane on the Bates farm when he collided with the Ford, which was being driven along the Flatbush road. Deputy Charles McCullough investigated the accident, but no arrests were made.

Harry B. Walker, widely known business man and a resident of Kingston all his life, this year is the Republican candidate for mayor and his experience both in business and civic activities has fitted him to handle the city's affairs in this one of the most critical periods in the city's history.

Mr. Walker, who was born in Kingston, is a son of the late Benjamin G. Walker, who in his day was widely known as a carriage manufacturer, and as a boy he attended the grade schools and old Kingston Academy. Early in life his taste inclined toward the drug business and he served an apprenticeship in the drug store of the late F. J. R. Clarke.

After serving his apprenticeship Mr. Walker entered the Albany College of Pharmacy and after completing the course returned to Kingston and was engaged as pharmacist in the drug store of W. F. Dedrick on Wall street, where he remained for five years.

About this time the John S. Duran pharmacy on Broadway, opposite what was then the American cigar factory, was for sale and Mr. Walker joined forces with Dr. B. W. Mahen and purchased the business which they have continued since, that time under the firm name of Mahen & Walker.

During these early years Mr. Walker became widely and favorably known both as a successful druggist and as a man whose opinion was valued because it was always well considered. Those were the days when the American cigar factory was running full blast, employing nearly 2,000 young men and women. Since Mr. Walker has been named as a candidate for mayor many of these old factory employes recall those early days and the many acts of kindness performed by Mr. Walker, who was never too busy to dress an injured finger of a boy or girl from the plant across the street.

Like many another young man of Kingston, Mr. Walker was keenly interested in fireman matters and became one of the many volunteer firemen of Kingston and is still a member of Wiltwyck Hose Company.

During the administration of Mayor E. J. Dempsey Mr. Walker was appointed a member of the board of fire commissioners, and has served as president of that board. When his term expired he had proven so valuable a man on the board that he was reappointed by Mayor Dempsey for a term of three years, and is still a member of this board.

During the years that Mr. Walker has served the city as a member of the fire board a number of important changes have been made in the fire department, making it more modern and up-to-date until today Kingston has one of the best equipped fire departments of any city its size in the state.

Mr. Walker is married, his wife being the former Miss Katherine J. Osterhout. She is active in the Federation of Women's Clubs, and is now president of that organization.

Mr. Walker for years has been an active member of the First Reformed Church. Fraternally he is a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., and a member of the United Commercial Travelers.

When the Central Business Association was first organized several years ago Mr. Walker was one of the prime movers in the formation of the organization and is now serving as a director of the association.

Active in the business life of the city Mr. Walker is keenly interested in the civic life of the city, and his business training and his familiarity with city affairs make him well equipped to head the city government.

MAY DISMISS SUIT AGAINST NIAGARA SHARE CORPORATION

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP).—Justice Alonzo G. Hinkley has indicated he may dismiss the $300,000,000 stockholders suit against the Niagara Share Corporation, or name a referee to hear it, at the end of today's term of court.

The justice late yesterday told Thomas F. Rogers and Michael J. Cahill, attorneys for the stockholders, he would give them until this afternoon to indicate whether the proceeding "is not an examination before trial but is really a trial."

The justice told the attorneys their clients would be better off "if the case were better prepared" and emphasized he objected particularly to waiting "sometimes half an hour" while the attorneys examined records which Niagara Share officials produced at their request.

Both Mr. Weidner and Mr. Kaplan, president of the Egg Auction, pointed out how the Farm Bureau finances the speakers at the club meetings and the cooperation given in making the egg auction a success.

Taxpayers Association Impartial Politically

To the Editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman:

My attention has been called to the matter of the petitions which are being circulated by Walter Donnan, president of the Young Democratic Club. It is alleged that these petitions, which are political in nature, were drawn up by a Taxpayers' Association.

I, as secretary of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association, wish to say that that body disclaims any connection with said resolution and has not endorsed any political candidate. The Kingston Taxpayers' Association is impartial in all matters political.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW H. FERGUSON,
Secretary of Kingston Taxpayers' Association.

Irishman Was Designer of First Postage Stamp

William Mulready, designer of "the first stamp ever issued," was born at Ennis, County Clare, Ireland, in 1788. The family removed to London while the artist was yet a boy, and he was educated at the Royal Academy school. He became an academician in 1815. In the first rank of British artists, it was natural that he should be chosen to create the illustration employed on the first one penny envelope sponsored by the crown government. A critic says of the drawing, "To be sure, there is a sketchiness about it which renders the design somewhat crude, but there is genius also."

"See how delightfully the golden Orient is portrayed in the patient elephant and those Africans on clumsy but fleet ships of the desert, the camel; the chattering Chinese are there, too, burden-bearing slaves, like the busy Moslem scribes plying their pens, squatted tailorwise on their bright bits of carpet."

"The great American continent also is admirably pictured, with its tawny savage clasping the hand of his Quaker brother of the pale face. But the stroke of genius lies in the little corner sketch of the meek-eyed mother, who with trembling clasped hands is listening so eagerly to the reading of the letter from her far-off boy."

STUDEBAKERS SAVED FROM RUST AND COLD

Your Studebaker is an investment and should be protected this winter from freezing and rust. Put in Eveready Frostone now, and the job is done for the season. At $2.50 a gallon, Eveready Frostone is your safest, most economical buy. Zero protection for a 1933 Studebaker Commander requires only 1 1/2 gallons, costing $4.45. For other models and makes, see your dealer's chart.

Don't confuse Eveready Frostone with either alcohol or glycerine. It won't bail away. It won't break down and cause rust. It reduces the rusting action of water in the cooling system by 75% to 95%. Like all car manufacturers, Studebaker approves Eveready Frostone. And it is fully guaranteed by National Carbon Co., Inc., New York, N. Y.

30-year records show Kingston usually gets freezing weather by Oct. 25. For all-winter protection, put in Eveready Frostone now.

Democratic Assembly May Increase Burden

bonds which were issued by the Democrats for the construction of the Ulster county jail. The cost of the jail itself was $80,000 which was raised by the issuance of 25 year bonds. The accumulated interest on these bonds totaled $11,000 making the total cost of the building $151,000. The interest was 89 per cent of the principal.

In concluding Mr. Elting paid tribute to the Young Republican Clubs for progress they are making and advised them to curb individualism where it clashed with the spirit of party teamwork.

Mr. Conway explained the method of voting by caucus which is used by the assembly. Under the system of the caucus vote, all the members of a party in the assembly are bound to vote according to the vote agreed upon by the majority as shown by the caucus. Under this system it is impossible for the upstate Democrats to vote in opposition to Tammany for Tammany has 60 of the 73 Democratic members. Mr. Conway then pointed out that at the present time the Democrats control the state senate and the state executive office, while the Republicans have only a majority of three in the state assembly. If this majority is lost, New York city will have a tax-exempted reservoir in Ulster county, he said. He also pointed out that if a Democratic board of supervisors is elected, they will see to it that the assessment and the tax rate on the Ashokan dam property is reduced. He informed the Young Republicans that John McCooey had made the statement that he was going to reform the upstate counties and that in order to do this he was going to fight for the members of assembly and the boards of supervisors. Thus the men who have brought the richest city in the world to the verge of bankruptcy are coming upstate to reform the bond-free county of Ulster. In the McCooey dictionary, reform and bankruptcy are synonymous, he stated.

Cahill Speaks

Matthew V. Cahill, candidate for city judge, was the next speaker introduced. He said that his political faith had been strengthened by the example which the Hon. Philip Elting has set as chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee. He continued by saying that it was an honor to represent a party headed by so great a leader. Mr. Cahill explained the importance of the office of city judge and the jurisdiction that this court holds in both criminal and civil matters. Although his address was brief, Mr. Cahill showed that he was equipped to carry on the function of this office efficiently and impartially.

Conrad J. Heiselman, candidate for alderman-at-large, spoke first on the importance of an undivided strength this year in support of the candidates for the Board of Supervisors and that for member of Assembly. He next made comment upon the manner in which the relief had been administered by the present Democratic administration in the city of Kingston. He pointed out the inequalities as exemplified by the man who worked four hours a day every day. This man was employed privately by day and by the city of Kingston by night painting the various traffic zone stripes on the streets. This same man, since he used his own car in his nocturnal occupation was voted a new set of tires by the Relief Board.

Morris Gerber spoke on the injustice and partiality which has been shown to exist in the distribution of relief tickets.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the chairman extended to the delegates every good wish for the success of the coming campaign. This was followed by cheering.

Tests complete the standard and must mean one thing to their wives—dependence pay day.

When The Company Goes Home. Our guests have departed, and we are again that old story budget a thing of the past. Our cupboard, like Hubbard's, yield nothing to eat. And a brave little budget like I was in a fix. At present, however, I am a happy man. And there isn't a chance of it being repeated.

Tell our little budget gets back on its feet. We enjoyed our roles, those of hostess and host. But a guest must have more than black coffee and toast. Our little budget gets back on its feet. Just as soon as our budget gets back on its feet.

Mother—cat collector. What does the college man do with his week-end?

The Dean—Well, madam, sometimes I think he merely hangs his hat on it.

A free country is one where everybody feels ashamed of the mess that nobody seems responsible for.

A commercial traveler, having missed the bus, found himself with two hours to spend in Rushville. He approached an ancient porter.

Travelling Man—Got a picture show here?

Porter—No. Travelling Man—A pool room or a library?

Porter—No. Travelling Man—Well, how on earth do you amuse yourselves.

Porter—We go down to the grocery store in the evenings. They've got a new bacon slicer.

Every college graduate knows that education pays, but just now they are trying to find out how soon.

Butcher—I can't give you further credit; your bill is bigger now than it should be.

Man—I know that. Just make it out for what it should be and I'll pay it.

It yet remains to be seen whether we can make ourselves rich with machines. On the face of things, we certainly should. But they bring a lot of kicks back that as yet, we don't know how to manage.

Geraldine—That boy friend I met at the dance last night is sure a fast worker.

Elizabeth—Yes? Well, the boss fired him today because he is such a slow worker at the office.

It would simplify matters if the movie industry would just move all its studios to Reno, Nev.

Teacher—Really, Junior, your handwriting is terrible. You must learn to write better.

Junior—Well, if I did you'd be finding fault with my spelling.

When a woman marries, a man's trouble begins.

Recently an old Negro at Reidsville, North Carolina, who claimed to be "having symptoms" sought some medicine to make him feel better. The physician pined him with questions. Among other rather personal questions he asked:

Physician—And how are your kidneys, Uncle Reuben?

Uncle Reuben—Well, Doc, dey is all grown up now, and some of 'em is married.

"Familiarity may breed contempt," says a local man, "but the guy who doesn't know you won't loan you the five you need."

Man—Young man, do you think you can support my daughter on forty dollars a week?

Aggressive Youth—I'm willing to try, sir—if that's the best you can do.

"Bank at Home," advertises a bank. But that doesn't mean under the rug.

Financial terms grow more confusing. Sound money people maintain that "managed money" would be mismanaged money.

It would be fine now if the pun handlers could agree on a code.

The American people are so busy studying business statistics that they haven't time to figure out how business ought to be done.

Suddenly she stopped. "Children," she growled, "I don't feel well either. I think we must have had something for supper last night that didn't agree with us. Just walk on through the woods and make notes on your slates of what you see and I'll catch up with you in a few minutes."

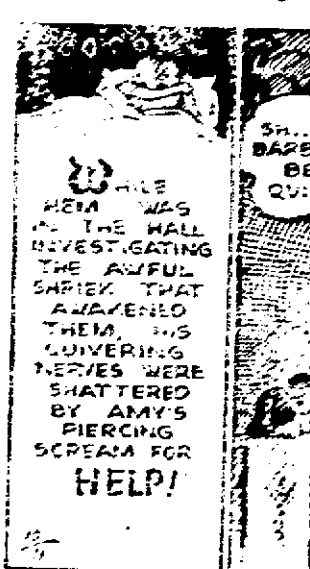

The nature class walked on through the woods, searching notes on their slates of what they saw and stopping in at seeds. But the boys passed and the Bears did not appear.

The Nature Class

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Rip, head master of the Puddle Middle School, barked a loud announcement when he found he could not keep order. "Today Jelly Bear and Honey Bear will take the pupils for a nature study walk."

As soon as the Bears started off, with the pupils following them, Rip curled up and went to sleep in the sunshine. He was quite exhausted.

All the little Ducks and Chickens were carrying their slates with what the Bears told them about the woods. Then they would study this for their home work and would recite their lessons the next day.

"Now here," growled Jelly Bear, pointing to some bushes, "are berries which are good to eat. 'Growl-growl,'" he exclaimed suddenly, "I really don't feel well at all. I simply must sit down and have a rest. Honey Bear! You continue with the nature class and lead the pupils a good distance away as I must have quiet."

"All I need is a short rest," growled Jelly Bear. "I'll be all right."

If I have that. So Honey Bear walked on with her little pupils.

Suddenly she stopped. "Children," she growled, "I don't feel well either. I think we must have had something for supper last night that didn't agree with us. Just walk on through the woods and make notes on your slates of what you see and I'll catch up with you in a few minutes."

Tweeds Are the Rage

General trends that are most important include the "knotty tweed" idea. This appears in monotone rustic cruise suiting with silky, fluffy knot decorations and in soap-smooth ratine yarn tweeds for typical fall spectator sports suits and coats. A noteworthy development in tweed suitings makes them very supple and about 11-ounce in weight; this makes lovely monotone resort jackets for plain skirts.

Among the Coats in the Cheering Section

New York—Comment on the wrap-around coat has already been made. It is a silhouette that seems to be gaining in favor, although coats vary so this season that it is hardly wise, at this time, to be too sure of what will be the typical winter silhouette. The one shown has the football padding shoulder, a seasonable idea and a popular one.

Among the coats worn at recent fashion shows are those frankly inspired by the Paris openings, as for instance peplums of fur over the hips as inspired by Maggy Rouff is given prominence, coupled with rounded collars of the same fur. A Lelong coat is interesting with its sleeves widened above the wrist and elaborated with a pointed treatment of fur. Vionnet is often represented in a coat with fur introduced as the sleeves from a dropped shoulder line while the built-up ruff collar is held in place by a draw-string. Shoulder emphasis is apparent in coats from Jaquin and Schiaparelli, models from both endorsing the crest theme in fur.

A copy of Yvonne Carette is interesting for its bodice top of fur, the fur also carried down into the sleeves, broken at the elbow. A coat from Chanel is seen with a muff to match the fur collar.

Chanel's coat with pointed cape-like collar may be worn flat or draped high around the throat. It is often in brown woolen with mink, or the mink with dark green woolen. The use of mink tails at back of the collar, and as trimming on the elbow cuffs is effective.

Coats fastening at the neck with bows, and coats with vertical bandings of fur may also be mentioned as leading at this time.

THE WRAPPED SILHOUETTE

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild

Slender fitted through the waist by tucking, the model illustrated represents the wrap silhouette that is advocated as high fashion this season. The fur treatment is also interesting, since it follows the high-at-the-throat and down-the-arm line, hinting at a cape effect.

Materials which are forging ahead give the lead to dull finishes.

Plaid woolen dresses, the plaids large ones, the dresses finished with self fabric scarfs or velvet trimmings, are seen everywhere.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Seasonable Cape Ensemble For A Little Girl

1978. Quite as for grown ups is this attractive model. It may be developed in light weight woollens, in linen, pique or gingham. The cape may be in contrast in color or material. The little frock to be worn under the cape, has short sleeves, attractively shaped. The dress portions are plaited to form wide panels below pointed yoke sections. A narrow belt is arranged on the back of the dress at the waistline. The cape is gathered in rows below yoke sections, and is finished with a girlish collar.

Designed in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Size 6 will require 3¼ yards of 35 inch material and 1-13 yard of 35 inch lining (for the cape) if made as in the large view. The cape alone will require 1½ yard. To finish the dress with bias binding 1½ inch wide or with piping or braid, will require 2¼ yards. The tie strings on the cape require 1½ yard of ribbon.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES.

A sower is the central figure in a new group of stamps from Uruguay. Five in number, they are issued in connection with the third national constituent assembly.

Values are at diagonally opposite corners of the frame which encloses a sower in a newly plowed field. At the other diagonal corners are the Roman numerals III and 1933.

Starting with the green three centavos, the stamps range through five centavos, violet; seven centavos, dark blue; eight centavos, carmine; 12 centavos, light blue.

China Adds Stamps.

China has come forward with some additions to its current issues, both postage and airmail. The postage stamps are two and a half cents and three cents, with the airmail rated at 25 and 50 cents and $1. The same general design of the present stamps is followed. The airmail is particularly distinctive, showing a monoplane flying over the great wall of China.

Zeppelin Design.

Stamp collectors have been examining the new U. S. Graf Zeppelin 50-cent stamp for use on the forthcoming flight of the huge airship to the Chicago exposition. They have found what appears to them to be a certain change in the drawing of the dirigible, central figure of the stamp, when compared with that of a previous U. S. issue of Graf Zeppelin stamps, put out in 1930 when the great ship visited this country. On the older stamp, with a face value of $1.30, they point out that the ship has three gondolas suspended in a row along the lower side, while the new stamp has but two gondolas, one higher up on the side of the ship than the other.

The stamp is finely executed, and besides the Graf Zeppelin, has a hangar and the federal building at the fair. France is printing three new stamps of odd denominations, 30 centimes, 75 centimes and 1.25 francs, on which the portraits of Aristide Briand, President Paul Doumer and Victor Hugo appear. They will be used largely for overweight letters or parcels and will be on sale in November and December.

Unlawful to Cage Song Birds

Howe About:

Slouches
Slow Improvement
"He Means Well"

By ED HOWE

SLOUCHES everywhere who suggest their work have it in them to do about as well as anybody.

Men will cease to be slouches, loafers, bandits, drunkards, killers, when they learn these habits do not pay. That these habits cannot be made to pay is the worst thing in the world. Whether we shall ever be able to learn this truth, I do not know; in fact, I am rather discouraged.

I have long been interested in a man I see at intervals of four or five months. (As a matter of fact, he is my son, now more than forty-five years old.) I wish to pay him the highest compliment one man may pay another. Being my son, he has many weaknesses, but every time I see him I am able to remark that he has decreased the number a little, or more carefully hidden them. His general average in intelligence is a little better; his conversation is a little less tiresome. His general attitude toward me is a little better, and I am a little better satisfied with him.

A little improvement, persisted in, is enough. Knowing myself and others, I do not expect too much, and cheer a reasonable average.

Every day around noon a bell rings, and I know another temptation is beckoning: dinner. As I march downstairs to it, I utter this silent prayer: "O, Lord, grant me strength in the ordeal I am about to encounter, that I may not eat too fast, or too much, and select the most suitable food offered. Amen." (In my appeal to the Lord, I mean such intelligence and experience as I am capable of.)

The dinner usually is so good I soon forget my prayer, and violate my scripture. I am one of the great army of which we say of the soldiers: "He means well."

A compliment, possibly, but indicating a poor devil who does not do very well.

The first thing I remember is that ours was a farm family called Howe, and that I was called Ed to distinguish me from a brother Jim, who arrived earlier. Next I heard of a school and a church in the neighborhood which we all attended with some reluctance. Probably a little later I first heard the neighbors talk about a town a considerable distance away, and which they liked to visit, that they might tell tales of its wonders. (An elaboration of this talk about the town included occasional references to a place called the city, which most of the neighbors themselves had only heard of.)

I estimate I was around five years old at that time, and at six began hearing of a still greater thing, still further away and more mysterious than the town or the city. The neighbors called it "The World."

Since the old Sugar creek days, now 75 years in the past, I have visited the town, the city and the world, but the facts have not changed much. There has been elaboration, but Sugar creek facts merged naturally into town facts, town facts into city facts, and city facts into world facts.

Life has never been a very great wonder to me; its mysteries have soon explained themselves. The Sugar creek neighborhood is still there, with its old facts; so is the town and the city, and the world still performs in its usual way. It is I who have worn out, in discussing old things with Sugar creek men, town men, and world travelers. I might have done better, and with less trouble, had I behaved better, worked harder, and acquired more of the sound education and common sense offered daily in my journey from Sugar creek to Mandalay.

The old quarrel between the sexes is as complicated as the old quarrel between the nations.

Every woman indicts the men; every man indicts the women. Peace, disarmament, getting rid of war, soldiers and guns would seem the easiest thing nations might accomplish, yet war has always been the worst curse of the human race.

Germany tells a terrible story on France, but France tell a worse one on Germany, and increases its armament. Germany is only trying to recover now that it may whip France; another war between these two countries is as certain as that there will be other wars between husbands and wives.

What crimes have been committed by men against women, when women tell the story; what crimes have been committed by women against men, when men are goaded into breaking into the conversation, as they always do. Every one believes in peace, yet there is no peace, and no prospect of it.

A public speaker lately said to a large audience: "We have exhorted youth to succeed by hook or by crook."

Most of the literature of the radical disturbers is false. I have never received such advice from anyone in my life; I have never read any such advice. Mothers give daughters no advice more persistently than fathers warn their sons against crooked methods when they go out in the world as men; the scarlet woman is no more marked example of failure among daughters than is the thief or loafer among sons.

Indian Reservations

The largest Indian reservation in New York state, the Allegheny, contains fifty square miles and is situated in Cattaraugus county. The next largest is Cattaraugus in Erie and Cattaraugus counties. The Onondago reservation, on the outskirts of Syracuse, has several hundred Indians who are largely employed in that city.

FUR-TRIMMED COAT FEATURED BY WORTH

Fancy Navy Wool Material
Used in Outfit.

Now that the Paris winter fashion collections are over we're beginning to get word of what the buyers chose to take home with them. From the house of Worth one of the favorites seems to have been a costume called "Sans Egal"—Without Equal.

This outfit is composed of a skirt and the three-quarter length coat of fancy navy wool material, woven to form a striped effect. The originality of the coat consists in the way in which the fur, a soft gray seal, is applied to make the entire yoke ending in a short, straight collar closing by means of a large navy satin bow. The sleeves are also made of fur with the exception of the wrists. There is a navy blue satin blouse with a V-shaped décolletage and a slight draping at the waist.

VELVET "CARRIES ON"
By EMERIE NICHOLAS

Velvet has become a necessary luxury in the mode. According to all the signs sumptuous velvet is going to continue to "carry on" along every step of autumn and winter fashions, and with even a greater degree of enthusiasm than heretofore. It is shown here in three moods. At the top of the picture it tunes to informal evening wear or formal afternoons. Jewels naturally accompany velvet, so this very much dressed-up lady of fashion is wearing a magnificent crystal bracelet which is garnished with rhinestones with a big mirror glass plaque at the top for an ornament. That lavish jewelry will be worn this fall and winter all style reports leave no doubt. The exquisite evening cape to the right in the group is of pale blue corduroy-stripe velvet trimmed with blue fox. It is a Worth model. The little jacket created by Jean Patou is of violet velvet with deep pointed collar and bishop sleeves.

STYLE NOTES

Tunic-and-skirt fashions are featured for fall.

Long tubular lines is newest silhouette for early fall coats. Latest lace gowns are fitted to the figure along mermaid lines.

Deeply ridged crepes and chiffons are on the fabric program.

Quilting done in a tailored way is new treatment for broadcloth and similar smooth woollens.

Velvet from simplest plain types to gorgeous plaids and other novelties will play a stellar role this fall and winter.

Stick to Feminine Charm

Is Rule of Parisiennes

Beer brown blouses are the goodwill contributions of the Parisian courtiers of their American clients. And so popular have they proved that all of feminine Europe also has gone in for them in a big way.

Despite this touch of masculinity, Parisiennes are managing by a stray curl here and there, dainty blouse and flattering shoe to retain their essential feminine allure.

Suits may be tailored and hats sometimes mannish, but by the proper accessory the lady may retain her innate charm. The hat is a fedora, but such a charming riot of curls is just under the brim. There is a handkerchief in the breast pocket, but how soft it is and what a gay color! Shoes are tailored and highly cut, but the leather is so light and flattering!

Variety of Colors Shown

in Veils for Fall Wear

Prominent colors for veils are black, navy blue and some browns. Black and navy blue are worn over white toques and navy blue is often worn over pale gray or light blue hats. Brown accompanies beige and gray toques. In some cases the embroidery is in contrasting tones.

American Trees in German Park

In the famous Count von Berchheim park at Weinhelm, Germany, are black walnut, hickory nut and sugar maples. A number of American trees also stand in the park of Hirske, a village in Brunswick near the former university town of Helmstedt. They were planted in 1763 and are thus the oldest of their kind in Germany.

How Striking Bargemen Block the River Seine

HERE'S one of the blockades that French bargemen set up across the River Seine near the junction of that river and the Oise when they went on strike. Things looked pretty serious until somebody thought up the bright idea of giving the strikers a dose of cold water to dampen their ardor. Accordingly a flotilla of tugboats quietly approached the blockade and let fly a veritable cloudburst from high-pressure hoses. The bargemen surrendered.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By NORMAN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—With "Footlight Parade," the screen in its quest for story backgrounds that will permit the logical introduction of musical numbers turns to the only branch of the commercial stage that has not been exploited previously.

There have been stories about the lives of dramatic artists behind the scenes. Struggles of small-time vaudevillians to make the big time ("Our names in lights, honey—wait and see!") have filled many a film. But "Footlight Parade" pictures the anguish of a chap who turns out, week after week, stage prologues for motion picture houses.

Whither Now?

Since Lillian Harvey is starting in a film about marionettes, there remain now, it might seem, only the little theater movement and college dramatics to be revealed for picture patrons.

Bushy Berkeley, dance director, worked according to a lavish standard in "Footlight Parade," which comes from the same studio that presented "Forty-Second Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933." The new production affords a rapid-fire intermingling of drama, comedy, action and spectacle.

James Cagney, who used to be a hooper, takes it up again here and in the climactic scene gives samples of the voice he has been training these many months. He plays the prodigal producer. Joan Blondell is his square-jawed secretary, and Claire Dodd is the gold-digging menace.

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler are together again, singing and dancing, and Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert, Gordon Westcott and Paul Porcasi are others who show up well.

Backstage Stuff

Music and dancing, in the form of rehearsals, make a background for the action leading to the climax, when the awarding of a large contract depends on the success of three "sample prologues."

No stage could hold all that is offered in "Honeymoon Hotel," the "Shanghai Lil" number, and the "waterfall" presentation.

Election Night Dinner.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church will hold their annual fair and turkey dinner election night, November 7.

Kingston: "Night Flight." The struggle of man against nature is the reason for this picture, a daring, interesting and brilliant story of man's desire to conquer the air and make flying possible in all types of weather and the darkness of night. John Barrymore as the manager of the air-line has but one desire, to fly the mails regardless of the weather. Reports of bad weather over the Andes or the Pampas do not stop him from sending his pilots through just the same, often with resulting tragedy. The thrills are numerous in this tale, as the pilots buck through the darkness, fly blind, or are lost in the storms they must fly into. Some of the finest air scenes ever taken in one picture are to be found in "Night Flight," and although the plot centers around the grim determination of man to better nature with its resulting catastrophes, the excellent photography, cast and general lavishness of the production makes up for the negligible qualities of the story proper. John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Myrna Loy, Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable, and William Garvan are members of a giant cast. The direction is by Clarence Brown. Worth seeing.

Orpheum: "I cover the Waterfront." A newspaper story of a reporter's life along the Pacific coast is depicted with unusual gusto in the first feature. The movie version is adapted from the novel of the same name by Max Miller, and the difference between the book and the talkie is striking. The movie is melodramatic, the book was thoughtful, the movie is sly and modern while the novel lacked these touches. And yet this story is appealing on the screen, as well as highly exciting. Ben Lyon is perfectly cast as the carefree reporter, while Claudette Colbert makes an enjoyable heroine. Ernest Torrence also stars in this last picture he plays in before his death. "Love is Dangerous" is just another movie with Rochelle Hudson and John Warburton.

Broadway: "The Silk Express" and "Sunset Pass." The Broadway again returns to double features with the first an exciting murder mystery aboard a train. Swift action, capable direction and intense acting all help to make this show a thriller. It seems that gamblers have cornered the silk market, so when the manufacturers order a supply from Japan, a lot of things happen on the silk train en route from Seattle to New York. Neil Hamilton, Dudley Digges, Sheila Terry, Allen Jenkins, Guy Kibbee, and Arthur Byron all have featured parts. "Sunset Pass" will prove fine entertainment, and is so well handled that people with an aversion to westerns will enjoy it. The plot is from a novel by Zane Grey, and it moves along at an amazing rate of speed. For riding perfection, several western movie stars go through their paces, and the scenery is grand. Randolph Scott, Tom Keene, Harry Carey, and Kathleen Burke are all members of the cast.

Broadway: "Supernatural" and "The Mysterious Rider." Carol Lombard, Randolph Scott, H. B. Warner, Vivienne Osborne and Alan Dinehart go through one of the spookiest performances yet shown on a screen in this story of fake mediums, the spirit world, seances, voices of the dead, the transformation of the spirit of a dead person into the body of a living one, as well as various other cheery bits of action during the course of the production. H. B. Warner has unusual powers in this talkie, and he even goes to the extent of placing the soul of a dead woman executed for murder, into the body of gracious Carol Lombard. Miss Lombard becomes filled with the yen to murder also, and this causes trouble, but it straightens out in the end. "The Mysterious Rider" is one of the best of the current westerns, with a Zane Grey setting and characters, action every minute, and a romantic new western team of Kent Taylor and Lola Andre.

Wood and Leather

Another extract obtained from forests is tannin, or tannic acid, which is used by leather manufacturers in the process of changing rawhide into leather. It is this extract that makes the leather durable and pliable. Both the wood and the bark are used, although the bark yields the higher percentage of tannin. It is obtained mostly from oak and hemlock trees, but before the chestnut blight destroyed most of our chestnut trees large amounts were obtained from this species.

New York City Produce Market

[illegible]

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Indolent financial markets moved sleepily today, showing little inclination to do anything else decisively.

It was one of the duller stock exchange sessions in a number of weeks. With all American markets closed tomorrow for the celebration of Columbus Day, board rooms were almost deserted by operators who were stretching out the holiday.

Equities, grains, cotton and other commodities backed and filled with the tone generally a bit easier. With a few stock specialists improved, the list, on the whole, was easy. Bonds were a trifle mixed. Little enthusiasm was shown for another substantial advance of the dollar in foreign exchange dealings.

Unimportant gains were recorded by shares of John-Manville, Montgomery Ward, Goodyear, Western Union, U. S. Smelting and a few others. Issues of fractionally to around a point included American Telephone, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, American Can, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, National Builders, DuPont, General Central, General Motors and General Electric. Homestake Mining slumped 37 points on the first sale, but set back 13 of this later. The Phillips held fairly steady.

Brokerage commentators were optimistic regarding the President's plan for banking and freezing deposits, closed banks and providing sufficient capital for banks which are open to qualify under the deposit guarantee law which becomes effective on January 1. Loosening of fixed-up deposits, it was believed, would greatly expand the purchasing power of the public and give local business a much needed lift.

Tri-County Farm Bureau Meetings

Shokan, Oct. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Geason have closed their summer home and returned to New York city. The Geasons have many friends here who are sorry to see them leave each fall.

The Rev. Clarence C. Witzschell, pastor of the Ashokan M. E. Church, has fitted up a trailer for conveying his flock to the reservoir and other bathing centres. During the doctor's recent vacation trip to Sandanga, Speculator and other points up state he took the outfit along with him.

Miss Johanna Wendt of New York city is enjoining at the Wendt place on the state road. Miss Wendt expects to remain in Shokan for another two weeks.

Fred Terwilliger of Tillson, who died last Saturday, had a number of friends among the older residents of this section. Mr. Terwilliger, who was a native of Olive, attended the Shokan Reformed Sunday School as a boy. He was a cousin of Floyd Terwilliger of Ashokan.

James Rutherford, enterprising farmer of the Town of Tillson, has husked about half of his crop of 150 bushels of corn. Mr. Rutherford has a lot of corn on the ear left from that year.

Mrs. Mary Reese has returned to her home in Baltimore, Md., after spending the summer at the home of Mrs. Oscar Dieter of the old state road.

George Egan and family of Brookville were recent guests at the Earl Brundage farm house on the mountain road.

Mr. Lifschitz, who now resides in Kingston, has rented a filling station and lunch room at Tremper to Lyle Wager, who for the past several months has conducted a garage business there.

Mrs. Mathia S. Burgher of the Ashokan section was the guest on Wednesday of her brother, Rensselaer Longyear, and family at the twenty-year homestead on the old state road.

Mrs. Archie Ronk, teacher of the school at Brown Station, was a caller on Monday. Mrs. Ronk has a number of pupils in her classes this term. Residents of the twin villages were saddened by news of the death of Mrs. Anna C. Dumond, who died Tuesday morning at her home in Togaue. Mrs. Dumond had many friends in the north reservoir section where she and her husband, Dr. J. Dumond, formerly made their home.

Frank Franklin of Lake Hill and George Berry of West Hurley were members among the business callers at the village center Monday morning.

Cow With Bone
At Klamath, Ore.—A cow owned by Philip Darling is the heroine of this story. Though lacking horns, it is not a brown hair which it is to take its calf. The cow had the best of the battle when

McAdoo Named as Counsel in Huge Loan

Washington, Oct. 11 (A.P.).—Senator McAdoo (D-Calif.) was named to Senate investigators today by a member of Dillon, Read & Company as counsel for the concern when it floated a $12,000,000 South American loan in 1921, now in default.

The bonds, floated by Dillon, Read & Company for Rio De Janeiro are now selling for $16 on each $100 par value.

Robert O. Hayward, member of the firm, said McAdoo was counsel in straightening out a legal difficulty to permit Dillon, Read & Company to handle the issue.

MT. TREMPER GRANGE HELD INTERESTING MEETING

Mt. Tremper, Oct. 11.—There were 39 members present at the last regular meeting of Mt. Tremper Grange, No. 1,468, held October 6.

The members were very sorry to learn of the death of Brother Roscoe Cockburn's mother. They wish Sister Lillian Gardner a speedy recovery after her operation, and congratulate Brother and Sister Steiger upon the arrival of a baby boy to their home.

The field day committee suggested a party to be given October 31 instead of the picnic in the woods.

Lecturer's hour was well filled with timely topics, such as the best method of cleaning a chimney. A contest was held to see which man could learn the most by asking a lady questions for three minutes. Brother "Matt" Hasbrouck won the prize of a bar of chocolate, having asked and received answers to 21 questions.

A funny sketch was given by three members and a sketch containing a problem in arithmetic was also presented.

Master Frank Carle read an amusing tale about a mule which was greatly enjoyed by all.

After refreshments were served cards were played, and Brother Clancy played on his accordion. He received plenty of applause.

Next meeting night is October 30.

SOCIETY PLANS TRIP TO HIKE ON SLIDE MOUNTAIN

Members of the Christadelphian Society will celebrate Columbus Day with a little exploration of their own, the objective of tomorrow's outing being Slide Mountain, highest in the Catskill area. Three weeks ago about 25 members of this society journeyed to the top of Mt. Overlook, near Woodstock, and came home tired but happy after an afternoon profitably spent in the outdoors. The expedition is scheduled to start tomorrow from the Elmwood Street Church not later than 10 o'clock, journeying as far as Winnsboro Lodge by automobile, then by Jakob's mare up the trail to the fire tower at the summit of Slide Mountain. Return will be made to the foot of the mountain before dark, and the party will start homeward with more pleasant memories of travels in the wilderness of their own nearby Catskills. Everyone should bring plenty of lunch, wear old clothes and comfortable footgear. Happy dispositions will be guaranteed by the leaders of the party. Anyone who would be willing to drive or furnish a car for transportation will please notify Allan Boerker by telephoning 3435-7.

Without necessary transportation so far as Winnsboro or Olmstead, it will

Kingsford-Smith Clips Hours From Air Record

Wyndham, Australia, Oct. 11 (AP).—King Commander Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith clipped more than 49 hours from the England-Australia flying record when he landed here late this afternoon to the cheers of a mighty throng of wellcomers.

The famous airman, hero of a Pacific crossing and numerous other flying feats, left England last Wednesday with the declaration that he was not out to set a new mark.

C. W. A. Scott, British aviator, set the old record of eight days, 20 hours and 49 minutes in a flight completed April 28.

Sir Charles, who left England last Wednesday at 4:28 a. m., landed here at 9:12 a. m. today for an elapsed time of seven days, four hours, and 44 minutes.

He therefore had beaten Scott's record by one day, 16 hours and five minutes.

Dragon Fly Cannot Swallow Its Own Tail

The dragon fly, or darned needle, as it is commonly called, fortunately cannot live up to either of the superstitions which have been built up about it. It is supposed, by children, to swallow its own tail. The first fly seen in the Washington Star, to be able to do up the same or to sting. The first belief is absurd on the face of it, but it is not less so because it can sting. However, as it does no stinger, it cannot swallow its own tail in that way. The dragon fly feeds on insects which it catches on the fly and holds securely in its strong biting jaws. The dragon fly lays its eggs on still water and the larvae live in the water, feeding on insects and tiny fish. When it for their constituents from the ad-show it is necessary they will be able to get pork, beef, cotton products and so on.

With approximately 1,500,000 families now on relief rolls throughout the country, the far-reaching effect of the administration's move may be seen easily.

The President himself described it as a direct blow at the economic paradox which has choked farms with an abundance while many of the unemployed have gone hungry.

Political observers agree, not go a blending of idealism and political

"optimism price."

It means, investigation revealed, the increasing of wages with a will permit a price at which people can still afford to buy products.

The striking of that balance is the great goal of the NRA.

Florida Becomes 33rd State to Vote Repeal

(By The Associated Press.)

Repeal of prohibition in the United States swept into its final stage today with every indication that the Eighteenth Amendment will be voted out of the constitution on November 7.

On that day six states will ballot on repeal. Approval by only three is needed to cancel the prohibition amendment.

A decisive vote by Florida yesterday in favor of repeal brought the number of states in the repeal columa to 33. No state has voted to retain the amendment.

The six states passing on the question on November 7 are: Pennsylv-lina, Utah and Kentucky.

If the necessary states vote for repeal November 7, actual vote of prohibition will not be effective until December 6, due to the fact that formal ratification conventions must be held.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The clarion voice of another newly crowned boxing executive has been raised in objection and protest against the so-called domination of professional pugilism by the managers of champions or near-champions.

It remains to be seen just how much this crusading spirit will accomplish in the form of definite results, for a number of obvious reasons, but Edward C. Foster of Rhode Island, the new president of the National Boxing Association, agrees with Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, new mogul of Madison Square Garden, that something should be done about the "managerial mess."

It is all very well to set up a loud outcry about "chiselers" and "racketeers" who may infest the boxing industry and lower its sporting standards to the decadent influence of back-room bargaining—in other words, the "fix." Certain aspects or features of pugilism are subject to reasonable control or inoculation. Yet the very sport itself, sprung from fugitive foundations, is such that the separation or elimination of its several elements might prove fatal to nearly all concerned, including the purifiers.

Little Need For Managers

Mr. Foster, it would seem, as his remarks are related to me by Jay Vessels from Minneapolis, would give boxing back to the boxers, a circumstance which might have the same effect as giving racing back to the horses.

It is my opinion that with very few exceptions, the so-called manager is an entirely unnecessary adjunct to the boxing game," says Foster, for where boxing is legalized there is always a commission and of course it is the duty of the commission to see that any boy boxing in its state is properly protected from wildcat promoters or from any other condition which might arise which might be construed as detrimental to the boy's interests.

"For that very reason, I can see no real, valid cause for these so-called wise managers chiseling in on these preliminary boys' purses to the extent of at least thirty per cent. One way, in my opinion, to help remedy this mess would be to raise the fees of the so-called managers to such a figure that they would be relegated back to the position to which they belong, namely, that of trainers."

"Of course there are a great many fine, capable managers who do splendid work and are very conscientious with their boxers."

A Houndini Needed

All very well and high-sounding, no doubt, but where is the Houndini who can separate the "fine, capable, conscientious" manager from the "chiseler" or "racketeer?"

Where, also, will be found the missionary to go forth among the pugilists, preaching the gospel of fair play to them?

Ithaca, N. Y.—Gil Dobie's pessimism is a football byword but it scarcely is warranted by the record he has compiled in 31 years of coaching. In that time, at Minnesota, North Dakota Agricultural College, University of Washington and, for the last 13 years, Cornell, he has moulded or helped to develop teams which have won 207 games while losing only 22.

Havana—Dr. Miguel M. Gomez, mayor of Havana during 1925-29, goes to the head of the clam as a football fan. A political exile last year, Dr. Gomez attended all of Columbia's games and became so enthusiastic about the game in general and Columbia's team in particular, that upon his return to Cuba he arranged to have all Columbia's scores cabled to him as soon as the games were over.

Boston—A new comer to intercollegiate football, Northeastern University finds itself beset by unexpected problems. One of the most serious, however, already has been solved. When the engineers played their first game last week, 500 residents of the neighborhood peered out their windows and saw the game without financial outlay. A high canvas wall, erected yesterday, was Northeastern's answer.

News from the World on Wheels

The buying power of the entire nation is steadily mounting. John W. Scoville, chief statistician of the Chrysler Corporation, said today in reporting September sales by dealers representing Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth automobiles.

"Using the automobile industry as a standard, and it has always been a good guide in the past, we can see no slackening in the steady increase of public buying power," he said.

"In the week ending September 30, our domestic dealers sold more than 13,300 new automobiles to the public. This is nearly five times the sales of new cars for the corresponding period of 1932, and almost double the sales for the best week in the peak year of 1929. In fact, this represents a new high in weekly sales for Chrysler units—the best week's business in more than five years."

Reported domestic retail sales by dealers of Chrysler cars in September of 58,146 cars and trucks were 115 per cent more than the 26,966 units sold in the same month a year ago, H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager, announced today. Sales for September of this year were the largest for that month since 1929. They were approximately 31,000 over September of 1932; 19,000 over September 1931, and about 5,000 over 1930.

Business of the Packard Motor Car Company in September, as represented by actual dollar volume of sales, was the largest of any one month in more than two years. Shipments for the month were 1514, according to M. M. Gilman, vice president of distribution. "Actual sales by distributors and dealers were 1355," said Mr. Gilman, "showing some slight gain in our efforts to provide distributors and dealers with demonstrators and necessary stocks. However, we still had 940 unfilled orders on our books October 1."

New automobile sales by Plymouth dealers throughout the United States totaled 7,524 units, 13.2 per cent more than sales for the preceding week and 41.4 per cent greater than sales for the corresponding week of 1932, according to Harry Mook, general sales manager of the Plymouth Motor Corporation. This figure was within 70 cars of the highest week's sales ever recorded by Plymouth dealers. Plymouth shipments for the month of September totaled 32,355 which was fourteen times greater than shipments for September of 1932.

Octopus in the Plural

If certain philological rules shall be followed in using foreign words in the English language, the plural of octopus should be octopods, because this word has been derived from Greek; Octo, eight, and pod, leg. It means eight-legged, thus its leg is octoped, and the anglicized plural should be octopods, though the Greek plural of the word, as a neutral noun, is podae. But octopoda has been adopted in zoology to designate a suborder of di-branchiate cephalopoda. The same we see with other foreign words like datum (Latin), plural data; genus (Latin), plural genera; index (Latin), plural indices; phenomenon (Greek), plural phenomena, etc.

A 2,000,000 seedling locust nursery was completed at Angora, Ind., by the civilian conservation corps in a few weeks.

Policeman Burger Bagged His Game

Officer Known by His Fellow Cops as "Old One Shot" Called to Shoot a Skunk, and Later Responds to Call for Wild Animal in a Single Street Time.

If you have a skunk or any other wild animal you want shot ask for Burger, known among his fellow officers as the Kingston police force as "One Shot", for that is all he ever uses in bagging whatever he is assigned to shoot.

Just to prove that it was no idle boast he was assigned to the job this morning of shooting a skunk that had been caught in a trap at 65 Cedar street. Taking the riot gun at police headquarters and three shells with him Officer Burger responded to the call. All that he needed was the first shot and the skunk keeled over dead. "It was lucky that all I needed was the one shot," observed Officer Burger when he returned to police headquarters. "For these two other shells don't fit the gun." In some manner two shells not meant for the riot gun had become mixed with the regular shells.

"Don't put the gun away yet," replied Officer Urban Healey, "for we just received a telephone call from a Maple street resident that there was a wild animal in a tree in front of her house. She says that boys are stoning it and the more stones they hurl the wilder it gets."

"O. K.," replied Officer Burger, slipping a regular shell into his pocket and starting for Maple street. When he reached the street it was to find a crowd gathered in the vicinity of the tree. The wild animal was well hidden from view in a crotch of the tree, but Officer Burger was able to just observe its head as it raised it to glance around. One glance was enough for the officer and taking aim he fired just once.

The wild animal came tumbling down, shot cleanly through the head.

It proved to be a large raccoon.

The dead animal was brought to headquarters by Officer Burger.

Later he said that after skinning

the animal he would have a pot roast made of it, for he liked nothing better than a piping hot dish of cooked raccoon.
